Reprint Series

This document is a reprint of an original report completed in conjunction with construction of the Cochiti Dam, Rio Grande, north of Albuquerque, New Mexico. At the time the project was undertaken, the common practice was to produce a limited number of report copies. A general lack of awareness concerning the relatively large body of existing archaeological literature has resulted because of this procedure. This unfortunate situation contradicts the intent of legislation designed to protect this country's cultural heritage. Cultural resource legislation was enacted because information about America's past was being lost at an ever increasing rate. Archaeological investigations, in a cultural resource management sense, are intended to preserve that information for future generations. If the reports of those investigations are lost or unavailable, it is as if they were never written.

We have attempted to be as faithful as possible to the original manuscripts. In some cases, however, we have removed information and illustrations showing the specific locations of archaeological and cultural properties. This information may be obtained through the Corps of Engineers in Albuquerque or the State Historic Preservation Officer for the area.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

SECTION I—PROGRAM FOR RESEARCH

I.1 The Cochiti Reservoir Archeological Project
Frank J. Broilo and Jan V. Biella . . . . . 3

I.2 Research Perspective
Richard C. Chapman and Jan V. Biella . . . . . 7

SECTION II—ENVIRONMENTAL SETTING

II.1 Geology and Prehistoric Mineral Resources: White Rock Canyon, Sandoval County, New Mexico
A. H. Warren . . . . . 15

II.2 An Ecological Stratification of the Southern Pajarito Plateau
Dwight L. Drager and Richard W. Loose . . . . . 31

II.3 A Vegetative Survey of White Rock Canyon: The 5280 - 5400 Foot (1610 - 1646 Meter) Elevations
Gail D. Tierney . . . . . 39

II.4 Faunal Resources in the Cochiti Study Area
Patricia J. Marchiando . . . . . 68

II.5 An Agricultural Stratification of the Cochiti Study Area
E. Ann Ramage . . . . . 79

II.6 Present Water Supply in the Cochiti Study Area, Northcentral New Mexico
G. Robert Brakenridge . . . . . 89

II.7 Paleoclimatic Variability in the North-Middle Rio Grande, New Mexico
Anne C. Cully . . . . . 97

SECTION III—CULTURAL RESOURCES IN THE COCHITI STUDY AREA

III.1 Previous Anthropological Research in the Cochiti Study Area
Jan V. Biella . . . . . 105

III.2 An Historical Perspective on Adaptive Systems in the Middle Rio Grande
Emily K. Abbink and John R. Stein . . . . . 151

III.3 Survey of Cochiti Reservoir: Methodology
Richard C. Chapman and James G. Enloe
with Emily K. Abbink, John R. Stein and A. H. Warren . . . . . 173

III.4 Survey of Cochiti Reservoir: Presentation of Data
Jan V. Biella and Richard C. Chapman . . . . . 201

III.5 Significance of Cultural Resources in Cochiti Reservoir
Jan V. Biella and Richard C. Chapman . . . . . 295
